

The Daily Courant.

Wednesday, June 10. 1713.

London, June 10.

Yesterday arrived the Mail due from Holland.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated June 16.

Petersbourg, May 15.

THE 13th of this Month, the Czar of Muscovy put to Sea from this Port with a Fleet of 200 Sail, having on board 18000 Foot, with a great Train of Artillery, and whatever else is necessary for the Execution of an Enterprize of Importance; which 'tis said will be a Descent in Finland, and that 9 Regiments of Dragoons are to enter that Country by Land as soon as the Gras is come up.

From the Amsterdam Gazette, dated June 16.

Hambourg, June 9. The Muscovite Troops are on the March for Pomerania: The 15th Instant they are to pass through the Country of Saxe-Lawenbourg. The Peasants in our Neighbourhood fly to this City with their best Effects, because of the Approach of those Troops. We are extremely frightened here by an ample Memorial which Prince Menzikoff has caused to be delivered to our Magistrates, containing several Complaints of his Czarian Majesty against our Regency. The Magistrates have nominated two Deputies to wait on that Prince, and endeavour to make an Accommodation. 'Tis said the Muscovites demand 300000 Crowns for Damages, but 'tis hoped they will content themselves with a less Sum. The Saxons make some Complaints likewise against this City, and demand Reparation. The King of Denmark has caused it to be notified here, that he has generously restored the Bishoprick of Eutin to the Duke Administrator of Holstein, but that his Majesty will keep the Regency of the Ducal Holstein, till the young Duke come of Age, and till the Succession to the Crown of Sweden be regulated. Tonningen is kept blocked up.

From the Paris Letter, dated June 9.

Paris, June 9. We learn by Letters from Alsace of the 1st Instant, that the Marshal de Villars arrived the 28th of May at Strasbourg, and set out from thence the next Day for Fort Louis, thence to go over to the Plain of Weyl in the Country of Wirtemberg, there to mark out a Camp for our Army; and the greatest part of our Horse had actually passed the Rhine, with some of the Foot.

From the Paris Letter, dated June 12.

Paris, June 12. Letters from Madrid of the 29th past advise, that a new Ordinance had been published there against Duels, under more severe Penalties than formerly; and that they had an Account from Barcelona, that Admiral Jennings arriving there the 15th with his Squadron to the Number of 60 Sail, including Transport Ships, General Staremberg communicated the next Day to the Government the Order he had received from the Archduke to imbarke immediately with all the German Troops, who began to march towards Barcelona for that purpose, which caused a great Consternation among the People. We have an Account by a Courier from the Marshal de Villars, who set out the 6th Instant from the Camp near Spire, that the Motions which the Marshal had caused our Army to make, and the leading of Part of them over the Rhine, as if he designed to encamp on the other Side of that River, was but a Feinte to cover his Design of marching towards Landau, by making the Enemy believe that he would attempt to penetrate into Germany; for having immediately repassed the Rhine at Fort Louis, he caused the Army to march with so great Expedition, that he arrived near Spire before Prince Eugene, from whom he had stolen a March, could oppose it; so that our Army had Philipsbourg before them, and Landau behind, and the Marshal de Bezons was expected the next Day with part of the Troops he commands on the Sarre, to form the Siege of Landau. Mean while our Soldiers had begun to Plunder and Forrage all the neighbouring Country. The King having given the Prince of Conti Leave to make the Campaign on the Rhine, his Highness is getting ready to be gone forthwith, in Company with the Duke of Bourbon.

From the Amsterdam Gazette, dated June 17.

From the Imperial Army near Philipsbourg, June 10. Prince Eugene of Savoy having made a Tour to Heidelberg, and conferred there with the Duke of Marlborough, viewed the Troops encamped at Oberhausen and Graben, and is returned to Muhlb erg. Yesterday two Imperial Regiments, of those who served in Italy, joyned us; the other four of them are expected by to Morrow, and in a few Days several Regiments from Hungary. The Enemy's Army which is reckoned to be about 40000 Men strong, lies between Speyerbag and Neustad; and 'tis said they have intrenched themselves there, whereby Landau is blocked up. The Enemy are very fierce in plundering and laying waste the Country on each Side of the Rhine. The Marshal de Villars has sent divers Expresses to hasten the march of the Troops he still expects to joyn him. He has sent out his Sauvegardes as far as Oppenheim, but undertakes only to exempt People from having their Houses burnt, not from being plundered. Though the Enemy's Design be not certain yet, it seems to be against Landau. 50 Field-Pieces are sent from Strasbourg to the French Army, and they will quickly be followed by the heavy Artillery and Pontons. We hear that at Strasbourg a Sack of Corn sells for 10 Rixdollars.

Cologne, June 13. On Saturday two Expresses from Prince Eugene rode through this Place, to go to the Hanover and Wistemberg Troops, to press them to hasten their March to the Upper Rhine. And to Day an Express arrived here from the Elector of Hanover, with an Order for his Troops, which are come into our Neighbourhood, to proceed to the Upper Rhine.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated June 16.

Brussels, June 12. The new Burgomasters of the Towns of this Country having assisted on Friday last for the first time in the general Assembly of the States of Brabant, the Question was put in that Assembly whether they Should acknowledge the new Council of State or not: The Clergy, the said Burgomasters, and the third State, voted separately for acknowledging it; and then they agreed unanimously to send a Deputation for that purpose to the Council of State, which was immediately done. We hear the said Council of State of Brabant have excused themselves, considering the Inability of the Inhabitants of the Country, from granting the Supply required of them by the Minister of Great-Britain towards maintaining the British Troops; and that the States of Flanders have likewise declared, that they are no longer able to contribute to the maintaining of the British Troops in that Province.

Some Advices from Courtray say, that after the Evacuation of Lille by the Dutch Troops, the Population of that City forced their way into the Church which those of the reformed Religion had there, broke all the Seats to pieces, as also the Windows, and committed divers other Insolences.
